

Biography of Company Principal

Gayle Oliver, is a long-standing, Atlanta-based entrepreneur with a 17-year track record of success and executive search expertise. Having expanded upon her initial success in executive resume services as the founder of Execume, a career services firm, Oliver has served a broad range of entities and professionals through all phases of the search process since 1989. Currently, as Founder/CEO of G3 Agency, an Executive Recruiting & Consulting Firm specializing in the recruitment of executives, experts, and consultants across multiple markets, Oliver has developed a reputation for providing high-caliber, client-focused search services to a high-growth and international client base. Oliver brings her proven strengths in sourcing, qualifying, and recruiting candidates that align with each client's specified credentials as well as their unique corporate culture. Insight, understanding, and a partnership approach to analyzing each company's requirements, combined with her vast network of professional contacts, have allowed her firm to become an invaluable resource to employers in fulfilling the growing demands of locating the professional genius that is required for firms to grow in a global, multi-cultural business climate. Oliver understands the true value of human capital and is well-versed in identifying talent with a wide range of expertise and for a full spectrum of corporate entities, from entrepreneurial to Fortune 500 corporations. Oliver is also a cum laude graduate from the University of Georgia with a B.A. Degree in Psychology.

Gayle Oliver is also the author of EXECUMÉ - It's More Than A Resume, It's A Reflection of You, a leading-edge resume-building workbook and companion CD-ROM, which garnered highly favorable national reviews. Oliver was chosen as an AJCjobs Blog Panelist in 2006 and is considered a career expert who has earned national attention with quotes in major publications such as Investor's Business Daily, Atlanta Journal & Constitution, and LA Times. Other notable recognition for Oliver has included guest appearances and expert interviews on television and radio programs such as Star 94 Steve & Vikki Morning Show, Fox 5 News, and NBC Affiliates programs.
